NEWS & INSIGHTS FOR INDUSTRIAL & MOBILE HYDRAULICS

Anton Zotter - Mobile & OEM Sales Manager

▶ The mobile market is calling

I am excited to return to the Hydreco team. With Hydreco joining Continental in the Diplomatic group, the future looks great with all the new advanced products that are engineered for today's standards and for future applications.

Joined Hydreco as a regional salesman when David Brown purchased Hydreco 1997. The company had operations in Franklin Park, IL, Pool Dorsett, UK, Greenville, OH and Charlotte, NC. I became North American Sales Manager for David Brown/ Hydreco when we were purchased by Textron. Previous to joining the Hydreco team I was the sales manager for a Hydreco distributor. After Hydreco I became the Key Account Manager for an international company. It's a privilege to return to Hydreco and join Continental.

My background includes managing a sales team that included major OEM accounts and a complex distribution network. My experience has been in both the mobile and industrial environment. A team centred process works the best to increase growth in any organization. When we work together, we win.

My business travels have taken me throughout the United States, Canada, UK and parts of Europe. On a personal note, I am a veteran of the United States Army, married, with 3 children and 7 grandchildren. In my free time I continue to play soccer (world football) in the O-55 league (old guy's league). My goal is to compete and win in everything I am involved with. I will win new business and my next soccer game.

Call me,
Anton Zotter

"The combination of Continental, Diplomatic and Hydreco's products give the company a global presence."

▶ Powerful and smart!

Proportional Valves: VED10MJ

Like today's Powerful and Smart Battleships, the Continental VED10MJ Proportional valve gets the job done.

When total control and dominance over the load is required, no matter how small or large the application, Continental's fleet of Proportional products gives you the confidence and performance for accurate motion control.

The On-Board microprocessor controls all the valve functions and is factory pre-set to perform. Three types of Digital integrated electronics are available, Analog, IO-Link or a variety of Field-bus control interfaces.

► Hydraulics wings take flight

Duplomatic's new motion control system

A work that lasted years, which involved the BU Turnkey Projects team, that led to the creation of a dedicated branch, Duplomatic Middle East we are talking about EXPO 2020 for which we created "from scratch" the engineering of the motion control system of the roof of the UAE Pavilion, the host country.

We were able to create an innovative technical solution to give life to the creative genius of the great architect Santiago Calatrava, who transformed the building into the national symbol of the Falcon, that spreads its wings and welcomes visitors from all the world to EXPO 2020!
